HYPHEN SUPPLYPRO™

Orders + Field Management

Your Direct, Accurate, Real-Time Builder Connection

See what the Builder sees for tighter communication, improved scheduling and faster payment on every job

The complexity of completing a residential construction project goes well beyond getting the right materials and trades to the site in a timely and accurate manner. Job details can change over the course of just a few hours and having up-to-date information is key to keeping a job on track. Real-time visibility into your Builders' job schedules with forecasting and instant updates of changes to scope and timelines is more critical than ever. Even the slightest error can throw the process off track, costing time, money, or worse, a customer.

How do you maintain open contact with a Builder's back office? What information do you continually need to access that you currently aren't receiving? Are you able to maintain timelines? Are you able to plan and forecast? Would it help your business to gain a real-time window into the Builder's job desk? How many websites do you have to go to for Builder POs and schedules? SupplyPro answers all of these questions and more.
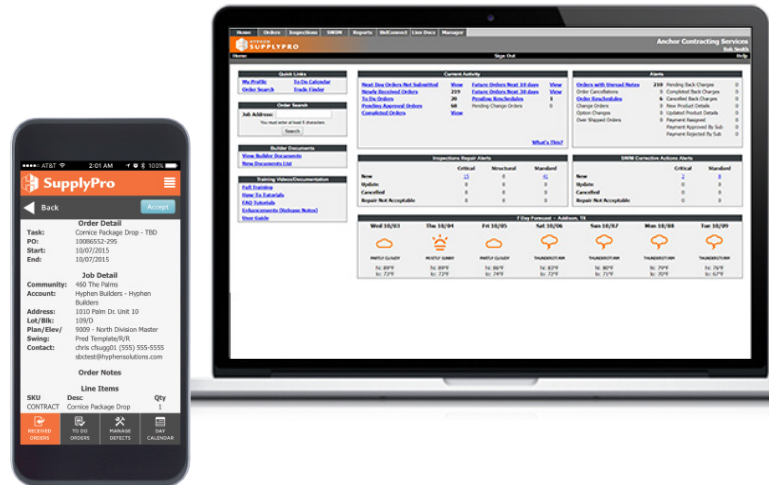

Link up with your Builder on Hyphen

Hyphen Solutions, the makers of BuildPro Construction and Supply Chain Management Software, provides the Supplier counterpart to BuildPro. We call it SupplyPro, the portal that links trade partners directly with BuildPro Home Builders, so you can access all the information you need to finish the job efficiently, sign the lien release and get paid quickly.

Designed specifically for Suppliers, Trades and Contractors, SupplyPro is one convenient portal for all your Builder information

Streamline Planning, Scheduling and Accounting to Better Manage Your Business with SupplyPro

SupplyPro interacts with Hyphen's widely accepted BuildPro, our Home Builder scheduling and project management software, which creates effective and seamless communication between Builders and Suppliers. It requires no special installation to begin using; simply sign up for the program online, and start working. SupplyPro works with any browser, including your smart phone, so you'll always have the latest job, PO and contact information right at your fingertips.
